

Session Title: SSS- Social Studies Stimuli: Embedding the Florida Standards in Social Sciences
Audience: Elementary Administrators
Facilitator: Ms. Jackie Viana
Co-Facilitator: Dr. Mercy MacDowell and Ms. Susan Boundy
Note to Facilitators: Have participants complete the agenda after each major section/activity.
Resources: http://socialsciences.dadeschools.net
Guiding Questions:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• How can the Florida Standards be infused in to effective social science content instruction for hands on activities?</li> <li>• What are stimuli based instructional strategies and how can they assist to: support mastery of Florida Standards, support mastery of Next Generation Sunshine State Standards for Social Sciences, and prepare students for eventual success on the 7th grade Civics EOC assessment?</li> <li>• How can administrators be sure quality social science instruction is occurring?</li> <li>• What resources exist to support quality social science instruction?</li> </ul>
What?	So What?	Now What?
What did we do?	What was significant to you? What inferences can you make about what we did or why we did it this way?	How might I use this at my school? What would I do differently?
3 minutes: Introduction of facilitators and overview of guiding questions. Review session agreements: Be present, attentive, and active; Be open-minded; Trust the process; Try out something new then, reflect; Acknowledge each other as equals; Assume good will; Expect it to be messy; Confidentiality is supported; Speak from your heart; Get what you need.

The American Revolution

Analyzing Political Cartoon- Political cartoons are illustrations designed to express social, political and historical messages of a set time or event.

- Person #1: Identify symbols and metaphors. A symbol is any image that represents another thing, like Uncle Sam representing the United States in a political cartoon.
- Person #2: Find details that contribute to the irony or humor of the cartoon. An irony is a form of humor in which something is conveyed in a way that mocks or teases the intended meaning.
- Both Persons: Use the background knowledge and details from the cartoon to form a conclusion and extract the main idea and cartoonist's opinion of the event.
- DEBRIEF QUESTION: At the conclusion of the wagon wheel, whole group questions: What are stimuli based instructional activities? Why are they essential for mastering NGSSS-SS benchmarks? Why are they essential for mastering Florida Standards?

Microlabs

These guidelines and questions were adapted from those developed by Julian Weissglass for the National Coalition for Equity in Education based at the University of California, Santa Barbara.

Purpose

To address a specific sequence of questions in a structured format with small groups, using active listening skills.

Time allotted

About 8 minutes per question — this works best with a series of no more than three questions.

Group format

Form triads — either with the people you're sitting near — or find others in the group you don't know well. Number off — 1, 2, 3.

Facilitation Tips

"I'll direct what we will talk about. Each person will have one minute (or, sometimes, 2 minutes, depending on the group and the question) to talk about a question when it's their turn. While the person is speaking, the other two in the group simply listen. When the time is up, the next person speaks, and so on. I'll tell you when to switch." Emphasize that talk has to stop when you call time, and conversely, that if the person is done speaking before time is up, the three people should sit in silence, using the time to reflect. Review the Guidelines (previous page).

The quality of the questions matter in this exercise. The questions should be ones that are important to the group.

The Activity

After instructing the group, read the first question aloud (twice). Give everyone time to write in preparation. Then, tell people when to begin, and then tell them when each one/two minute segment is up. On the first question, begin with person #1, then #2, then #3. Then read the next question aloud. On the second question, begin with #2, then #3, then #1. On the third question, begin with #3, then #1, then #2.

Reflection questions following the activity

- What did you hear that was significant? What key ideas or insights were shared?
- How did this go for you? What worked well, and what was difficult? Why?
- How might your conversations have been different had we not used this protocol?
- What are the advantages/disadvantages of using this activity? When would you use this protocol?
- What would you want to keep in mind as someone facilitating this activity?

Wagon Wheels Brainstorm

Developed in the field by educators.

Purposes

- To stimulate lots of generative thinking in a very short time
- To stimulate powerful thinking between people who might not know each other
- To create a “vivid image bank” of a new idea in action to inform the planning process
- To develop a sense of team with a common purpose

Note: Wagon Wheels may also be used to explore a text. Can also be used as a text discussion (See Wagon Wheels: Adapted for Texts).

Set Up

- Four chairs back to back at the hub of the wheel and 4 chairs on the outer circle facing the chairs at the hub.
- Facilitator selects 4 ideas to explore.

Directions

Have participants bring paper and pen and fill in the seats in the wheel(s).

Ask them to take notes of both their own ideas as well as their partner’s.

The people on the outside of the wheel will be moving one seat to the right at each rotation; people at the hub remain in their seats.

Explain that they will be working on one topic with each partner for approximately 5 minutes — i.e. they will work with 4 different partners during the activity.

For each topic have the participants reach a common understanding of what the topic means and then brainstorm what it would look like in action.

At the end of each rotation, ask each participant sitting on the outside of the wheel to rotate one seat to the right. After they settle down, give them the next topic and ask them to reach a common understanding before brainstorming.

Going Deeper

Have participants pick their favorite ideas for each topic and write them down on sticky notes. Make sure they label the top of each sticky note.

Put large flip chart sheets with topic titles on the top around the room and have participants post their favorite ideas on the appropriate sheet.

Create focus groups to further explore a specific topic and to plan how to put the powerful ideas into action.
