Social Sciences and Life Skills, in cooperation with the Muriel F. Siebert Foundation, is sponsoring a financial literacy workshop for secondary social studies teachers at the Federal Reserve Bank.

- To become financially literate, students need to understand the functions of financial institutions, the problems related to debt and credit, and the investment options open to them as adults.
 - To assist social studies teachers in their efforts to teach financial literacy through their required curriculum, a one-day workshop is being sponsored by the Division of Social Sciences and Life Skills, in cooperation with the Muriel F. Siebert Foundation.
 - The workshop will be held on Monday, April 4, 2011 from 9:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m., at the Federal Reserve Bank – Miami Branch, 9100 N.W. 36 Street, Doral, Florida 33178.
 - April 4, 2011 is a Teacher Planning Day. Teachers planning to participate in the workshop must have the permission of their school's principal.
 - Teachers participating in the workshop will receive free teaching materials and 7 MPP pending completion of an assignment following the workshop.
 - This is the fourth teacher workshop sponsored by the Muriel F. Siebert Foundation since 2009. Preference will be given to teachers who have not attended previous sessions.
 - Registration will take place on-line through the M-DCPS Professional Development Menu and Registration System. Click on "Find a Session by Instructor." The Financial Literacy workshop instructor is listed as Alayne Zeto.
 - Registration is limited to middle and senior high school teachers.
 - If you have any additional questions, please contact the Division of Social Sciences and Life Skills, at the number listed below.
