To provide schools with instructional resources to support the celebration of Black History Month, February 2015.

- Each February, Black History Month, also known as African American History Month, gives our diverse community an additional opportunity to recognize and celebrate the many historic, cultural, social, political, and economic contributions of African Americans. Additionally, Florida State Statute 1003.42 requires the study of the history of African Americans.
- The 2015 Black History Month theme is “A Century of Black Life, History, and Culture.”
- The purpose of the Black History Month instructional resource guide is to provide schools with background information, lesson plans, and a list of appropriate Internet resources to support instruction during Black History Month and throughout the school year.
- Below please find the links to the elementary and secondary instructional resources compiled by the Department of Social Sciences to support Black History Month. Please feel free to download and duplicate as necessary.
