 - Lead2Feed is a free program that combines a ten-lesson, standards-based curriculum on the topic of leadership, with the challenge of solving world hunger via a service-learning project. The leadership principles are based on the book, Taking People with You by David Novak, and focuses on self-awareness, working with others, setting a big goal and identifying a hunger-related charity to assist. More information about the Lead2Feed program can be accessed by clicking on the following website address: <http://lead2feed.com/>
 - Teachers will be trained on how to assist students in developing a solution and launch a plan to help solve hunger issues in their community or around the world. USA TODAY's electronic newspaper will be used as a resource to help students study, find real-life examples of leadership and global/local hunger issues. After students complete their project, they have the opportunity to submit it for a World Hunger Leadership Challenge Award.
