TO ALL SENIOR HIGH AND MIDDLE SCHOOL PRINCIPALS/APS: Social Studies Power Writing and Active Learning Workshop

Category:

Audience: Principals/APs (Middle), Principals/APs (Senior High)

Due Date: n/a
Meeting Date: Feb 06, 2009

Curriculum and Instruction, Social Sciences, is offering Power Writing/Active Learning workshop for secondary social studies teachers on the District-wide Professional Development day on February 6, 2009.

- Curriculum and Instruction, Social Sciences, is offering a workshop on February 6, 2009 designed to provide pedagogical assistance in regards to improving students’ persuasive and expository writing skills using social studies content and improving teachers’ Active Learning instructional strategies. This is a District-wide Professional Development day and no substitute coverage is needed and no stipends can be offered since it is a teacher workday.
- Secondary social studies teachers may sign up for the workshop by completing the following steps:
  - Go to the District’s main webpage, www.dadeschools.net;
  - Click on the green employees icon;
  - Click on the Professional Development Menu and Registration System icon;
  - Log in using your employee number and computer password;
  - Look on the left side blue menu bar and click on "Find a Session," "By Instructor;"
  - Look for the instructor’s name: Alayne Zeto;
  - Find the course titled- “Social Studies: Power Writing/Active Learning;” and
  - Complete the registration process accordingly by following the instructions given.
- Priority registration will be given to secondary social studies teachers who work in schools in need of improvement.
- If you are in need of additional information, you may e-mail Robert Brazofsky, Instructional Supervisor, Curriculum and Instruction, Social Sciences at rbrazofsky@dadeschools.net or see the contact information below.

Contact: Robert C. Brazofsky (305 995 1599)
Department: Curriculum and Instruction, Social Sciences