To announce the availability of an instructional resource to engage in project-based learning with partner schools in other countries through the Global Scholars Program.

- The Department of Social Sciences is pleased to partner with Global Scholars to offer middle school teachers and students an opportunity to engage in online project-based learning with partner cities from across the globe.
- Global Scholars is an international online learning program that connects students in cities around the world and prepares them to become the next generation of global citizens. Engaging in activities both in the classroom and online, students ages 10-13 interact with their international peers, develop 21st century skills, and ultimately gain a broader perspective on the global world in which they live.
- The Global Scholars program is COMPLETELY FREE and is a perfect fit for either 6th grade World History or 8th grade U.S. History classes. After school programs and technology teachers can also apply to participate.
- Global Scholars provides a full enrichment curriculum, professional development, and ongoing support to teachers throughout the program year.
- Please see the attached brochure, curriculum overview, and application for further information.
- If interested in participating, please complete the application and submit it following the instructions indicated on the form. Please ignore the portion of the application asking for a copy of your school's certification or accreditation information.
- Deadline to apply is: Friday, September 11, 2015.
- Please direct all inquiries regarding the Global Scholars program to: globalscholars@globalcities.org.
